Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ruste, nee Arlene Steffensen, were indeed surprised when their many friends arrived at the S. Nilson home last Sunday afternoon, where they were guests, to present a program in their honor, as well as a shower of useful and beautiful gifts. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ruste thanked their friends for their kindness and invited them to visit them at their own home near Wainwright. A delightful lunch was served.

We were glad to report that Mr. and Mrs. Ole Raasok and the twins arrived safely in Oslo, Norway, four days after leaving Irma. They had had a very successful journey as even the twins proved to be very good little travellers. At the Oslo airport they were royally welcomed by Ole's family and friends who showered them with an assortment of flower bouquets. The twins, who became a little disturbed by such a warm welcome, were also recipients of a nosegay of flowers. The report also stated that the weather in Norway was slightly on the cool side with a great deal of snow underfoot.

A TIMES WANT AD PAYS

Funeral Services For Lloyd Everett Allen

Lloyd Everett Allen was born at Strome, January 30, 1909. With his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen, he moved to the Avonglen district in 1920, where he resided until 1929, when he started farming in the Strawberry Plains district, on the farm of his sister Mrs. M. Chase. In 1945, because of ill health, he left the farm to reside in Irma. During the years on the farm, and since, Mrs. Chase and Marjorie made their home with him.

Through years of ill health and blindness, Lloyd maintained a wit and an unflinching cheerfulness which won the admiration and friendship of all who knew him. He was particularly interested in the smaller children of his family and friends. Many of the youngsters in the district have samples of his handwriting in the form of a doll's chair, a chesterfield, or some other toy by which to remember him.

While his health had been failing for years, his sudden passing on April 25 was a shock to his family and friends.

The funeral was held from the Irma United Church on Wednesday, April 28, with Rev. H. W. Inglis officiating. Pall bearers were Messrs. E. Tomlinson, A. Long, F. Wiese, C. Reed, C. Smallwood and R. Dempsey. Interment was in the family plot in the Irma cemetery.

Prairie Tree Planting Car Opens Annual Tour

It all began 34 years ago. A handful of Western Canadians gathered at Winnipeg to solve an urgent prairie problem. They wanted every prairie farmer to know about the value of shelterbelts of trees for home improvement, for productive gardens, for more pleasant living conditions and betterment of farm values.

So they appointed a man to tell everybody about it, with the Canadian Pacific providing a railway auditorium, and both Canadian National and Canadian Pacific undertaking to move this "Classroom on Wheels" on their western lines.

He was soon known as the "Traveling Schoolmaster" and the public response was immediate and hearty. The Canadian Forestry association was his sponsor.

This interest in tree planting has now spread to field shelters for the increase of grain yields and the protection of farm soils.

Fifty to sixty sections, co-operatively planted with sheltering trees 15 years ago have proved their worth through restored water tables, increased crop yields and insurance against disaster in bad years.

Once again this unique traveling schoolroom will be visiting prairie communities on its thirty-fourth consecutive tour of the west. The program presented to both adults and school pupils demonstrates what can be accomplished by the use of trees, and also provides practical planting instructions in what trees to plant, and how to plant them, the laying out of the home grounds, and the development of shelterbelts and field shelters.

Shelterbelts are today recognized by thousands of farming people as an essential part of the farm.

PIPE RACKS
PATTERN 406
If you want the family to treat your pipes with proper respect, make a rack for them that will do them proud and let it include humidifier drawers that will keep your favorite tobacco moist. The larger of these two pipe racks also has a handy drawer for pipe cleaners and odds and ends. It is seven inches high, twelve inches wide and displays a dozen pipes. The smaller rack is the same width but only two-thirds as high and holds a half-dozen. Clear pipe or any wood that takes a high polish would be the kind to use. The humidifiers are light-glass jars. The pattern gives tracing diagrams for the shaped parts as well as the steps in assembling and finishing. Ask for pattern 406 and enclose 35c.

MAKE BIRD HOUSES WITH PATTERN 227
IT IS FUN TO WORK WITH CEMENT
You can make this cement bird bath. The mold for forming the concrete is a simple job using common mason bath. A little cement, sand and gravel are all you need for the concrete mix. The pattern shows just how to use the trowel to get the fluted effect of the pedestal, and the octagonal basin. Once the forms are made the materials for a number of these attractive baths cost very little. The pattern gives actual-size guides for preparing the molds as well as the formula for the concrete and the construction steps are illustrated. A few bird houses and a feeder are sure to attract the songsters. A number of interesting designs are included in the Bird House packet which is priced at $1.50. The bath pattern 227 only is 35c postpaid.

prairie farm life. The steady increase in the use of trees for both rural and urban planting gives promise that the once bleak and open prairie is slowly giving way to a land of beauty and protection provided by prairie tree planting. The future will see much greater use of trees, along our highways, as living snow-fences, and in community undertakings for recreation.

The success of our tree planting campaign has been due to the generous co-operation extended by the undertaking by the press, radio, and a great many individuals and organizations. We hope this work, devoted to improving the living conditions and opportunities of our western people, may continue to merit the widespread and effective assistance it has always enjoyed.

Meetings are held in the Car, at each point on the itinerary, at eight o'clock in the evening. When schools are open, arrangements are made with the school authorities to have the Pupils visit the car during school hours. Sound films show the results obtained by farming people through planting trees, and give practical instruction in tree planting and home beautification. An illustrated talk covers planting methods, which trees to plant, the laying out of a shelter belt, and planning the home grounds, with information on the care of trees and shrubs. A question period follows each evening meeting.

Thoughts About Spring

Spring is a welcome transition from coldness to genial warmth; it is a change from the barrenness and lameness of the earth, to beauty and variety in the aspect of nature.—Burbury, Mrs., born 1800.

Spring is the season of hope.—Blessington, Lady Margaret, born 1789.

It is not the variegated colors, the cheerful sounds, and the warm breeze, which enliven us so much in spring; it is the quiet, prophetic spirit of endless hopes, a presentment of many joyful days of the happy existence of such manifold natures, the anticipation of higher everlasting blossoms and friends, and the secret sympathy with the world that is developing itself.—Hardenberg, Frederick von, born 1772.

When the measured dance of the hours brings back the happy smile of spring, the buried dead are born again in the life glance of the sun, the germs which perish to the eye within the cold breast of the earth spring up with joy in the bright realm of day.—Schiller, J. C. F., born 1759.

In the green days of spring reviving sickness lifts her languid head; life flows afresh, and young eyed health exhales the whole creation round. Contentment walks the sunny glade, and feels an inward bliss spring over his mind beyond the power of kings.—Thompson, James, born 1709.

What man is there over whose mind a bright spring morning does not exercise a magic influence, carrying him back to the days of his childish sports and conjuring up before him the old green fields with its gently waving trees, where the birds sang as he has never heard them since?—Dickens, Charles, born 1812.

Spring flies, and with it all the train it leads;
And flowers in fading leave us but their seeds.—Schiller, J. C. F., born 1759.

Ah! well away!

Seasons flower and fade.—Tennyson, Alfred, born 1809.

What blooms so sweetly in spring often fades before autumn; there is one time for blossom, another for the tomb.—Kilman.

There is no time like spring, that passes by!

Cake Mix

How would you like to make your own cake mix? It is cheaper than those you buy and keeps several months.

Sift and measure 11 cups or use one 2 1/2 lb. package of unsifted cakeflour. Add 5 table-spoons double-acting powder (alumet); 5 teaspoons salt; 2 1/2 vegetable shortening; 7 1/2 cups white granulated sugar. Mix these ingredients together until of cornmeal constituency. Store in a covered container at room temperature.

Plain Cake

2 1/2 cups of the mix; 1/2 cup milk; 1 egg; 1/2 tsp. vanilla. Place unsifted cake mix in a bowl. Add 1/2 of required liquid and beat two minutes. Add remaining liquid and unbeaten egg. Beat two more minutes. Bake at 375 for layer cake and cup cakes; 350 for loaf cakes. Fill pans only half full. Bake the cup cakes 15 to 25 minutes, layer cakes 30 minutes and loaf cakes about one hour.

Food Faddists

Some 10 million people in the United States pay out $500 million a year for "health foods," "health aids" and "diet supplements" they don't really need. That statement was made by Dr. H. L. TRACTOR ACCIDENTS

Last year at least 24 lives were lost in farm tractor accidents in Alberta and if the trend of recent years continues even more lives will be lost this year. Just last Saturday Andrew Revak, a farmer of the Taber district, was killed when his tractor overturned into a ditch crushing him beneath.

This is drawn to the attention of farm people in the hope of creating a greater interest in farm safety. Most tractor accidents could be avoided by following a few simple safety rules.

EDMONTON REPORT

By Donald F. Smith

OF RATS AND RAILROADS

EDMONTON—The campaign to keep Alberta free of rats will continue this year, particularly along the Alberta-Saskatchewan border, according to J. B. Gurba, assistant provincial supervisor of pest control.

Despite the comparatively small area of the province which is subject to immediate danger, the work done there is of importance to the rest of the province. This probably is realized by many Albertans who have lived in other parts of Canada and in other countries where rats are accepted almost as a permanent nuisance and are costing a lot of money in agricultural and industrial destruction and waste.

Last year's campaign was concentrated on a 25-mile-wide strip from the Cypress Hills in the south to about 200 miles north along the border. Pest control officials say there are plenty of signs that preventive action will have to be taken farther north this year, possibly as far as the North, Sask. river, north of Lloydminster.

There also have been indications that rats will attempt to move west toward Wainwright and west from Lloydminster.

At least two full-time control officers of the province will patrol the border area this summer. One already is on the job checking reports in the area which was rat-proofed last summer by N. L. Poulin, of St. Boniface, Man., and at least one other is to be appointed.

The task of keeping check on the situation in that area has been difficult because it is an unorganized territory. Farther north, officials expect the work will be more effective as most of the municipalities and other organized areas have appointed regular pest control officers. Recognition of the importance of control in Alberta is indicated by the fact local governments have appointed 230 pest control officers.

About 50 farms along the border are known to be harboring rats. Most are problem cases because of buildings which are in run-down condition or constructed in such a way as to be hard to rat-proof effectively.

Pest control officials are encouraged in their work by growing interest of farmers and town and village officials in the danger areas.

Mr. Gurba said Lloydminster has set out bait stations, which are various-shaped boxes containing the poison Warfarin mixed with cornmeal and rolled oats. They have been placed at garbage dumps and other spots where rats have been found. Farmers and other towns are being urged to establish their own bait stations.

At the same time, Mr. Gurba points out that other effective means of stemming the invasion include cleaning up farms and urban centres, eliminating possible hiding places and stopping practices which give rats breeding and eating facilities.

Fortunately, Alberta is protected from the west by the Rocky Mountains and such areas as the Peace River district seem fairly safe from invasion from that quarter. There has been no invasion from south of the international boundary, as the rats seem to be some dis-

SAYS REDWATER "DRILLED" OUT

EDMONTON—J. R. White, president of Imperial Oil Ltd., says Canada's largest oil field has been "drilled out."

White said the fabulous Redwater oil field just north of Edmonton, "has almost been exhausted," and the second biggest Alberta field—Leduc—"also is in its last stages."

The Alberta legislature recently passed legislation enabling oil production in the Redwater field so that Imperial Oil and smaller companies which operate in the field can combine forces to set up a more organized drilling program.

WARBLES IN HUMANS

A Lethbridge scientist says that warble grubs have been squeezed from the skin of two Alberta children this winter. This further emphasizes the menace of these insects that normally attack cattle. Jerry Weintraub warble fly project leader at the Livestock Insect Laboratory made the announcement, saying that a four-year-old child had a maggot removed from its chest late in January. Half a dozen other reddish lumps were also found on the child's body, but these were not treated. In the other case, only one grub was found.

Mr. Weintraub said that the disease can be fatal, or that it may paralyze parts of the child, as the insect moves through the body. The flies lay their eggs in the hair or clothing of humans, or on cattle from late in May to mid-July. After the eggs hatch, the grub burrows through the skin into the flesh.

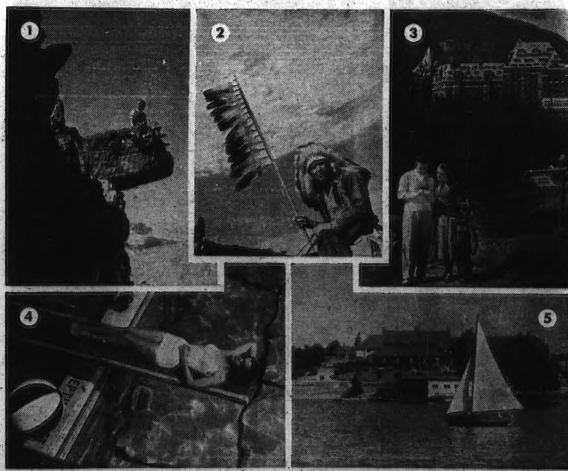

This should be warning enough to cattlemen to do their best to rid their herds of warbles.

Development Of Use Of Hudson Bay Route Moving Forward

(By W. J. Hansen in North Battleford Optimist-News)

The development of the use of the Hudson Bay Route has moved forward, steadily since the reopening of navigation following World War II, in 1945, and will continue to move forward from year to year with gathering momentum. The Port of Churchill is becoming increasingly better known both as a tourist attraction and in the increasing number of business firms who are becoming interested in using the port and route facilities during the season of navigation.

In 1931, there was an excursion from the prairies to the port of Churchill when the port was opened to navigation. By 1945-46, there were less than a dozen people remaining in Saskatchewan out of this group who had visited the port of Churchill. Today as a result of the seven annual excursions sponsored for Saskatchewan residents, more than 1,700 persons have visited the port of Churchill and, at first hand, have seen the ocean going ships, the port facilities, the historic Fort Prince of Wales and the frozen tundra of the north, the northern terrain and the commercial possibilities for imports and exports to and from Saskatchewan.

The major operating problem affecting full use of the port and volume of shipping in connection with the port of Churchill, has been clearly set forth by Sir Clement Jones, C. B., chairman of the Commonwealth Shipping Committee who visited Churchill, Manitoba, in October, 1951, at the invitation of the Agent General for the Saskatchewan government in appendix 111, to the Eleventh Report on Hudson Bay Marine Insurance Rates, 1952. It relates to spacing of ships and more intensive use of the present season of navigation.

He states that "ordinarily there is no lack of cargo at Churchill for incoming ships." The policy and operation of the Canadian National Railways and the Port Manager, has always resulted in the terminal elevator being filled with grain at the opening of the season of navigation. In fact, due to the difficulty in securing optimum spacing of the arrival of ships at Churchill, there are periods of congestion of cargo and as pointed out by Sir Clement Jones, in the 1951 season, on July 29th, when the S.S. Warwick arrived, not only was the elevator full but there were 800 cars, all the way from The Pas to Churchill. These could not be unloaded because the ships were not there.

It is at Churchill that Churchill can take five ships comfortably—average time taken for loading a ship with grain was 12 days and then away. "It is rare for ships to be kept waiting for grain." There was only one instance of this in 1951, when due to the tough weather situation, a ship was delayed for a day waiting for a particular grade of grain.

In the shipping contracts, a ship is ordinarily allowed a two week period during which it can pick up its cargo. A study of the arrival dates of ships seems to indicate a reluctance of Masters of ships to enter the port at the earlier dates now open for navigation. — July 23rd passed Cape Chidley. Since the Insurance Underwriters consider the route safe at this early date, it is expected that the masters of vessels will in the future have the confidence required to bring their vessels into port at the earlier possible dates. The arrival and spacing of ships is a matter that cannot be expected to be carried out with great precision as there are many factors affecting the possible arrival dates of ships—weather conditions and their general shipping schedule and other ports of call. It is a situation that is being watched closely by those concerned and in time it is hoped that when the season of navigation opens at Churchill there will be five vessels on hand to be accommodated.

Regarding imports and destinations on the prairies, a study of the cargo and respective volume indicates that, generally, importers still regard their use of the Hudson Bay Route as largely on a trial or experiment basis. This is understandable as many importers have delivery deadline dates and schedules to meet which do not naturally fit into the Churchill shipping pattern too well. Right after the war, motor car dealers, farm machinery dealers and some others enjoyed a "sellars" market and deliveries were taken by customers at any time that deliveries could be made. It is different today, supplies are more plentiful and customers take deliveries when it is to their best advantage. This is particularly true of cement, except in years of short supplies cement is needed mostly at the beginning of the construction period and not in latter part of August and September when weather conditions may choke off construction activity. The most that can be done, therefore, is to bring the facilities at Churchill to the attention of business men and leave the decision of routing entirely up to the prospective importer.

The wool of the Angora rabbit is valued for its length, softness, lustre and fineness.

THE BOAT BUILDER—Bruce McInnis of Melville, Sask., is shown standing beside his newly completed boat, which he constructed from plans appearing in one of the popular technical books published in the States. This is the third boat Bruce has finished in as many years, the first being a flat bottom rowboat, the second a fisherman type, while this winter's effort is the most elaborate undertaken so far, providing two cockpits. Made of plywood and finished in white and red it will easily handle the new noiseless seven and one-half horsepower outboard motor which the builder recently purchased. Construction work was done in the basement of the postoffice, where Mr. McInnis is employed.

Alberta Rural Residents Urged To Watch For Rat Migration

With the coming of spring and warmer weather rats begin to migrate to new quarters into fields, new buildings and other locations. Since springtime is normally clean-up time on farms and in urban centers it affords a good opportunity to check migration of the rat. Cleaning up yards, back alleys, trash and waste will do much for convenience, health and beauty. Besides, if we remove food and shelter, we threaten the rat's very existence, advises J. R. Gurba, Asst. Supervisor of Pest Control, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

No rats have been found west of the "Poison-proofed" area from the Cypress Hills to Provost, but new infestations have been found within the area at Butte, Chinle, Paradise Valley and Lloydminster. These colonies are being exterminated by Warfarin poison and carbon monoxide gas. Recently 112 dead rats were dug up following gassing—under a large villages, to help with the local rat control. Warfarin poison baits are available free of charge, are safe to use and easy to apply. Contact your local pest officer or district agriculturist for further information.

Here's A Way To Escape High Cost Of Living

Do you want to escape the high cost of living? Or retire to a log cabin where there's plenty of fishing and hunting?

It's possible to do both right here in Alberta. At the town of Cadomin, 60-miles south of Edmonton, neat log houses are selling as low as $50 and the only other expenses are food and a $3 a year rental fee for the lot.

There's no joker in the deal. Cadomin has been a "ghost town" since the Canadian Dominion Mine Company, who built the town to house its employees, closed its mine about three years ago. The company is offering its town, house by house, to anyone who wants it.

The $50 price is for the cheapest type of home but others can be bought for $100 to $200. The annual $3 rental fee is payable to the Alberta Department of Lands and Forests since the town is built on Crown land.

Stores, homes and churches now are boarded up but a general store and a Canadian Legion hall still operate. A few retired miners live in the town still, fishing and hunting in the sportsman's paradise around the deserted town and talking over the past when 1,200 people lived in the abandoned homes.

Living, though cheap, is not easy in Cadomin. There are no utilities and if you want coal for your stove you have to dig it yourself in the abandoned mine. There is ample water available in the nearby McLeod River but like the coal, it's not delivered to your door.

LANTERN CUPOLA PATTERN 403

When you make this glass cupola for the garage the light from the barn lantern hanging from the ceiling will be a happy reminder between a glaring flood light and a full moon. On the darkest night there will be a friendly glow over the premises. The glass sides are four basement windows. The curved rafters and the roofing sections are cut from a pattern which includes details for fitting the cupola to the roof. Ethel, a barn or a railroad lantern is wired with fittings from the hardware store. The chandelier weather-van and an American Indian tracing design are on pattern 241. Patterns are 35c each. The Homestead Improvement Packet of five patterns for other valuable outside improvements is priced at $1.50 postpaid.

HOW TO MAKE AND HANG CURTAINS

PATTERN 325

There is more to handling curtains and draperies than meets the eye. There is the matter of fixtures—the right kind and how to place them. A valance shelf may be needed, or a simple cornice box. These questions arise whether curtains are made at home or bought ready-made. If material is bought by the yard there are sewing details that will make the difference between a home-made and a professional job. Measurements are important too. How much to allow for headings, hems and shrinkage? Or how much fullness for different kinds of materials? Pattern 325 illustrates the steps in measuring to avoid waste; the various fixtures; hanging French pleats, traverse rigging, lining, problem windows. Price of pattern is 35c postpaid.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

Wake Up, Lydia

By F. T. Martin

"I'm not one to talk," whined Lydia Doolittle, "but it's gone!"

Ready eyes gazed with glee as she glanced furtively around the post office. She watched the effect of her words on the clerk. Stunned, she clutched a handful of skirt and hobbled toward the door.

Suddenly she stopped. "My lan!" she squeaked.

One of the posters on the bulletin board bore front and side view pictures of a man. Howard was offered for information leading to the capture of one Ralph Brady, wanted for armed robbery.

The spinster Doolittle adjusted her ancient spectacles.

"My eyes ain't what they was," she muttered, "but if that don't look like that Smith feller who's been hangin' around. It's good somebody in Colville is awake."

The clerk let the stamp window for a moment. Temptation and opportunity struck together. So did Lydia. With a darting claw, she snatched the notice, thrust it into the folds of her clothing, and went out.

"Ain't nobody 'goin' to get credit for catchin' this John Smith," she snorted. "Touble is nobody's awake in this town. That's why we have only one factory."

Miss Doolittle didn't like John Smith. He had registered at the hotel, two weeks ago and no one seemed to know anything about him. All he did was wander around Colville or go over to Keene Falls and wander there. He had been seen at the railroad station one day, along the river bank on the north side, or around the factory on another.

"That's it!" she cackled. "The factory! They're paying the yearly bonus next week and I'll bet that Brady alias Smith has his eye on it."

Mr. Boswell, the barber, was standing outside when she passed. "Afternoon, Miss Lydia," he called. "You look a mite flustered. Anything wrong?"

"There's plenty wrong, Will Boswell," snapped Lydia, "but you'd never know it sunnin' yourself like a cat. As an oculistman you should be thinkin' about ways to perk up business around here."

"Now, Lydia, . . ."

"Or," whispered the spinster, "a way to keep criminals off the streets."

The barber leaned forward. "Know somethin'?"

"Mebbe," answered Lydia. "Mebbe I know what that Smith feller is. Mebbe he shouldn't be walkin' the streets a free man. Good day."

Miss Doolittle made six more stops on the way home and six more cryptic remarks about John Smith. By supper time, her phone was ringing steadily. But she would say no more.

"At the proper time," she told everyone, "I'll speak my piece."

The situation, thought Lydia, was made to order.

The factory payroll delivery was next Thursday. The Colville Business Improvement Committee meeting was also Thursday. She would wait until then before telling the police. She smiled as she pictured herself marching into Grange Hall with the mysterious Mr. Smith in tow.

"Hmph! Even his name sounds fishy."

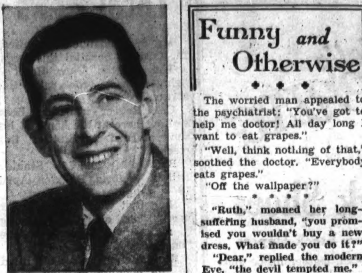

Colville began to buzz. People remarked that Mr. Smith did look as though he had a criminal face. But if John Smith suspected any of this, he didn't show it. He continued his walks, and minded his own business.

On Thursday, Miss Doolittle was also minding his office, waving her poster and demanding that "the police wake up."

The sheriff waited for her to finish talking. Then he led her to the hall.

"Someone needs waking up," he said quietly.

"But the p-payroll," stam-

CHAIRMAN — Mr. Gerry O'Shaughnessy, Commissioner of the Moose Jay Chamber of Commerce, replaces Mr. R. L. Hutchison as chairman of the Saskatchewan Golden Jubilee homecoming and reception committee. Mr. Hutchison's resignation from chairmanship was for reasons of health, although he still remains a member of the committee.

nered Miss Doolittle. "It arrives in a few minutes . . ."

The Business Improvement Committee of Colville was in full session and there was standing room only. John Smith was speaking.

"So when my company," he was saying, "sent me to select a site for my new factory, they were concerned not only with location, but with the people. I found two suitable locations, one here and one in Keene Falls. I am sorry to say I will recommend Keene Falls."

The crowd stirred and looked at Lydia Doolittle.

Mr. Smith continued. "Naturally, you businessmen will understand that I had to keep my mission a secret to everyone except the sheriff in order that real estate prices would remain normal. You see," he added with a smile, "my name is really John Smith and it may surprise most of you to know that I am not wanted by the police."

Lydia Doolittle didn't hear any more. Her thoughts were concentrated on reaching the door but faces seemed all around. Suddenly the face of the sheriff came closest.

"If I hear another word of gossip," he said firmly, "there will be a little matter of stolen property from the post office."

But Miss Doolittle didn't hear him. She had fainted.

Manitoba Hereford Bull Sold To Alberta For $4,000

BRANDON, Man.—Viking R.J.M. 4th, R. J. McClement's big Hereford bull which swept the top honors list at the recent Manitoba Winter Fair, has been sold to the McIntyre Ranching Company of Alberta for $4,000. Releasing this news, Mr. McClement said selling a Manitoba bull to one of the biggest Hereford ranches in Alberta was like taking coals to Newcastle.

"This is a real pat on the back for Manitoba Hereford breeders," he said, explaining that traditionally Alberta is the home of Herefords in Canada and rarely does an Alberta breeder, especially the big ones like McIntyre, buy an outside bull for a herd sire.

Ralph Thral, present owner of the McIntyre ranch, required a new herd sire after his former sire won the recent Calgary bull sale show grand championship. He chose the McClement bull after receiving information regarding it from the men who judged the classes at the Winter Fair here.

"Some of the more important Alberta ranchers are casting their eyes at Manitoba herds," said Mr. McClement. He sold another bull, Fiddaman, to a Rimby Alta, breeder two years ago, and it later won the Hereford grand championship at the Toronto Royal Fair.

As far as Mr. McClement recalls, these are the only two transactions on which Alberta Hereford breeders have bought Manitoba bulls.

Viking R.J.M. 4th was delivered to the C.P.R. here, and left early for the McIntyre ranch. Mr. Thral, who is leaving on the all-expense trip to England he won along with the Calgary grand championship, bought the McClement bull sight unseen.

Main reason for changing herd sires from time to time is that new blood is required in any herd, Mr. McClement said.

New herd sire for the McClement farm, near Hayfield and about 15 miles southwest of Brandon, will be TH Larry Onward 52nd. Mr. McClement bought this bull at a Thorpe sale in North Dakota, where he also brought TH Revelation 75th, which stred his present champions.

TH Larry Onward 52nd is a three-year-old Hereford of Brandon. McClement took to the 1953 Toronto Royal Fair, where it won the championship of its class.

Municipal District of Wainwright, No. 61

Notice To Ratepayers and Lessees

On the advice and recommendation of the Wainwright Agricultural Service Board, Bylaw No. 286 being a Bylaw for the purpose of Prohibiting the Burning of Stubble reads in part—

"Be it enacted that no person or persons shall willfully burn stubble on any lands within the boundaries of the Municipal District of Wainwright No. 61, at any time unless a Fire Permit under the authority of the Forests Act being Chapter 43 of the Statutes of Alberta, 1949, and amendments, is issued."

Four reasons are put forward by the Board why the Bylaw was enacted.

1. Fertilizer value from stubble of a thirty bushel crop is equal to $2.40 per acre.
2. Incorporation of stubble into Top Soil prevents wind and water erosion.
3. Fire can easily get out of hand from stubble to grass lands.
4. Loss of trees from natural bluffs from Fire running through them is great.

Fire permits will only be issued to farmers upon investigation by the personnel of the Service Board and only then after trial has shown that stubble cannot be handled with farm implements.

Your close co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

Secretary-Treasurer.
